Mrs. Lucy Audubon.

(From the Courier-Journal.)

Mrs. Lucy Audubon, the widow of John James Audubon, the most distinguished of American ornithologists, died of old age at the residence of her sister-in-law, Mrs. William G. Bakawell, in Shelbyville, Ky., on the 7th inst.

Mrs. Audubon was born in England and came to America with her father, Mr. Bakewell, when a small girl, not more than 12 years of age. The family settled on a farm on Perkiomion creek, near the banks of the Schuylkill river, Pennsylvania.

Audubon was born on a plantation in Louisiana May 4, 1780, and died in New York January 27, 51. When a child he manifested the strongest disposition for the study of birds. He began of his own will to draw the birds, and, disclosing considerable talent as a draughtsman, he was taken by his father to France, there to be educated.

When seventeen years of age he returned to America, and, having become possessed of a fine farm on the banks of Schuylkill, in Pennsylvania, where the leisure of rural life allowed him abundantly opportunity for prosecuting his predominant taste, it was his habit to hunt from the break of day till dark.

Whilst on one of these rambles in search of the numerous feathered tribe which appear in his celebrated book, Audubon first met Miss Lucy Bakawell. He loved, wooed and won, and the union proved congenial and happy; furthermore the young wife soon manifested a disposition to encourage her husband in his researches as a naturalist and rendered him invaluable assistance. But the greatest aid came not through immediate service in the pursuit of his studies: Audubon's enthusiasm, which ultimately led him unconsciously to fortune, first led him to poverty and then caused him to drag his amiable wife in to the same unhappy condition. He spent his own fortune first and then soon afterwards sacrificed that of his wife to the one object of his life. But filled with enthusiasm for his work he had faith and courage. And in the particulars Mrs. Audubon suffered no disadvantage.

For a number of years they made their home in Kentucky, the town of Henderson being their place of residence. A few years before the publication of his book, and while sojourning in New Orleans in search of specimens, he was reduced almost to absolute penury. A dark hour seemed to be growing upon the hitherto happy couple; but in the time of need, with the same ease and familiarity with which he applied himself to all other projects, Audubon turned dancing-master, raised a school and carried on a successful business. In like manner, whenever necessity demanded, he turned his hands to different callings, and made sufficient means to keep out of debt. He became celebrated, and on this account his life was for years full of strongly contrasting scenes and incidents, such, for instance, as feasting abroad one day with the most opulent of the land, receiving the most magnifcent entertainment, and the next day surrounded by the circumstances of poverty at home. In all the vicissitudes of his life his wife was a patient and faithful sharer. With the publication of Audubon's great work, "The Birds of America," in 1828, fortune began to return. After several voyages to Europe, where the couple were received with the honors due to royalty, the couple returned to America and settled, finally, in 1833, on Minnie's Land, on the Hudson, then near New York.

Here Audubon died, leaving his wife in the possession of the homestead, which was sold soon after his death for about $66,000. The city of New York now embraces this property, which is known as Audubon Park, and is worth over one million dollars.

After her husband's death Mrs.
Audubon returned to Kentucky to live, and took up her abode with her sister-in-law at Shelbyville. She was the sister of Wm. G. Bakewell, of Louisville; Mrs. Alex. Gordon, of New Orleans; Thos. Bakewell, of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Nicholas Berthoud, all of whom have died of old age within the past two years. Mrs. Bakewell is a sister of Mr. W. H. Dillingham and a half-sister of Mr. Charles Chapman, of this city.

Mrs. Audubon died at the age of eighty-eight years, in the full possession of all her faculties. During her latter years she has written and published the life of her husband. The book is full of interesting and thrilling interest, and it is said, will compare favorably with the several works written upon the same subject.

Her relatives started for New York yesterday with her remains for interment there beside the grave of her husband.

THE CLOUD IN THE WEST.—The Republican State Convention in Illinois has opened the campaign with platform declaring boldly for free banking and inflation. While patting President Grant on the back with the object of keeping him in good temper with the federal office-holders who formed the majority of the Convention, the Illinois republicans repudiated his hard-currency doctrine, virtually condemned his veto and his memorandum and planted themselves on the ground of an increased currency, fair distribution between the sections on the basis of population, and opposition to the control of the currency of the country by capitalists and combination of capital. The position of the Illinois Convention, President Grant's own State, is most significant, and points unmistakably to a sectional financial issue in the next Presidential election.

The Crops in India, we are told, are full of promise. Three hundred thousand persons are still fed by the government. The copious rains now falling, while brightening the faces of nature, also gladdening the hearts of men, Providence has come to the aid of the government, having learned the lesson of experience, shall so make provision for the future that famines and Provisional interposition, in the way of relief, shall be prevented or rendered unnecessary.

Francis Butler's Death.

(From the Courier-Journal.)

On Tuesday night Francis Butler, the distinguished dog fancier of Peck Slip, after several hours of terrible suffering died at his residence at Prospect and Bremen streets, Brooklyn. About six weeks ago a gentleman left at his place of business a small Spitz dog. The animal had been for some time ailing, and the owner wished to obtain Mr. Butler's opinion whether the symptoms were those of hydrophobia. The veteran expert hardly believed in the existence of the disease, or at all events he had full confidence in his own ability to cure it in its worst phases. He declined to give in opinion at the time on the case, and asked that the dog might be left with him for a few days for treatment. The owner consented and went away, and Mr. Butler, as a preliminary measure, gave the animal a dose of salts. It was no easy task, for the dog was terrified at the sight of medicine, and struggled violently. The assistant held the animal, and Mr. Butler forcing its mouth open with his left hand was in the act of pouring the dose down its throat when the creature broke away from the assistant, and before Mr. Butler could move his right hand it had seized him by the thumb and lacerated it badly. Before he could fling the animal from him the finger was almost severed.

In a long experience with dogs Mr.
Butler had again and again been bitten though never so badly as on this occasion. He was not at all alarmed, however, for long familiarity with the danger had rendered him callous to it, and like most dog fanciers, he believed that though all mankind should die of hydrophobia he at least was invulnerable.
The dog evidently required close attention, and Mr. Butler decided upon taking it to his residence in Brooklyn, where he had many animals in training, or under treatment. He bound up his wounded hand, and putting the dog in a basket, directed his boy to take it over.
As the Roosevelt street ferry-boat, by which the lad was crossing to South Seventh street, was entering the slip, the lid of the basket was unloosed, the dog sprang out and ran among the passengers on deck, snapping viciously at everybody. It seemed then to have very well defined symptoms of hydrophobia: the froth was dropping from its mouth, and its eyes had that fixed glare which is characteristic of canine madness. Every one got out of his way as quickly as possible, and not a few nearly fell into the river in their efforts to escape a worse fate than drowning. In a few moments, however, the boat entered the slip, and the passengers hastily dispersed, but not before a man, whose name has not been ascertained, had been bitten in the leg.
Soon afterward a policeman killed the rabid animal.

Mr. Butler then became a little uneasy as to the result of his wound; he had it carefully poulticed and dressed, and watched closely every day; but he was still free from any apprehension of its resulting in hydrophobia. He took precautions more with a view of alleviating the anxiety of his family than from any fear entertained on his own account. The wound healed as rapidly as could be expected, but Mr. Butler's general health was not good. He suffered severely from sciatica, and was unable to leave his house for a long time; his spirits sank as his strength diminished, but though filled with gloomy forebodings on other subjects he almost forgot the wound on his thumb.

A few days ago the wound began to fester slightly, and something like a felon seemed to be forming. It gave Mr. Butler considerable pain, and occasioned great anxiety to his family.
On Monday morning he was sitting at breakfast at the usual hour, apparently in somewhat better health and spirits than he had been in for some time.

His wife handed him a cup of tea, which he raised to his lips; instantly a tremor ran through his frame, and he set the cup on the table, remarking that it was the strangest feeling he had ever experienced. A second time he tried to drink the tea, but the result was even more marked than before, and shudder-ing convulsively, he pushed the cup from him. He said he felt a horrible sensation, at the sight of it, and asked his wife to get him a sedlitz powder. Mrs. Butler was deeply agitated; she knew but too well that the terrible poison with which her husband had been inoculated six weeks before was at last doing its fatal work, and that his hours were numbered. She procured the sedlitz powder, and offering it to him, carefully watched the result. It was unequivocal; he at once became violently convulsed and cried to her to take it away. She then sent for Dr. Lorette, but long before his arrival the sufferer was fully alive to his peril. He was perfectly self-possessed, and gave instructions regarding the arrangement of his affairs with his usual keen common sense; he knew that he was dying, and said he had no hope of living to another day. He also knew that his end was to be no tranquil one, and not wishing the members of his family to see his sufferings, he ordered them out of his room. After 12 o'clock he lost all mastery over himself; his wife could hardly prevail upon him to remain at home, and he ran up and down stairs striking at every one he met with a stick. When Dr. Francis M. Lorette arrived he found him frightfully agitated, but able to converse and understand what was said to him. He said he was suffocating, and the doctor prescribed a glass of water. He tried hard to drink it, but the effort threw him into violent convulsions, in which he was nearly suffocated. From this time the paroxysms increased rapidly in frequency and violence; his sufferings were fearful, and he entreated those around him to hasten his end. Soon afterward he wrote on a slip of paper a request that he might be relieved in some way—even by death. A blister was then placed upon the throat and chest, and sulphate of morphia was applied to the abraded surface. This seemed to afford him some relief. The paroxysms became less violent, and attacked him at longer intervals, and at length he became unconscious, and died.

Mr. Butler, who was in his 64th year, was born in the town of Stroud, Gloucestershire, England. He belonged to a family moving in the first society in England. He was liberally educated, and as a linguist had very few superiors, speaking six or seven languages fluently. He came to this country thirty-six years ago, and was well and favorably known as a professor of languages. He was connected for a long period with Fairfields Academy in Brooklyn, and also filled the post of French teacher in an educational institute in Flushing. He published a French and German "Speaker," which was a work of considerable repute. A love of dogs which had characterized him in his early years was by no means lost during his checkered career in America. He owned several of these animals, and his friends sent him their pets when they required medical treatment. About twenty years ago he resolved to give up his literary pursuits and establish himself as a trainer and breeder of dogs. He opened his well-known establishment in Peck slip, and his success far surpassed his utmost expectations. He was undoubtedly the leader of his profession in America.

Those who are acquainted only with the little store in Peck slip can hardly imagine the immense business he did.
A notion of its magnitude may be gathered from the fact that on his property in Brooklyn, consisting of eight lots around his dwelling house, he had frequently as many as three hundred dogs of all breeds for sale or undergoing medical treatment. He acquired considerable wealth, which he leaves to his family, consisting of his wife and five children.

State News.

Bowling Green Republican: "A specimen of the coal oil which exploded at Oakland and caused the death of Miss Sallie Smith, on the 18th inst., was brought to this city and tested by a competent chemist. The fluid flashed at 98, and took fire at 100. The legal standard for coal oil in Kentucky is 130 degrees, and every one of an inferior quality is liable to the law. The person who sold this coal oil is not only liable to the law, but morally liable for the murder of Miss Sallie Smith. We understand that within two years, there has been five deaths from the explosion of coal oil in the vicinity of Oakland. Isn't it about time that the citizens were inquiring into the matter?"

A severe wind storm in Harrison county last week killed two children; a high limb fell on a seven-year old boy as he was going through the woods with his mother, instantly killing the child and severely wounding the mother in the other instance, the house of J. M. Smedley was blown down, killing one of his children.

Clark County Democrat. "A friend of ours had quite an adventure with the fire—He had a few days ago. He awoke about midnight, impressed with the notion that somebody was in the backyard. Getting his pistol, which lay loaded in the drawer, he cautiously reconnoitered through the window, and discovered what he took to be a man stooping over a coal of fire in the effort to produce a blaze, which he did not doubt, was intended to be used in setting fire to his dwelling house. Taking careful aim, he discharged his pistol and saw the fire fly, which was a fair shot on a dark night. Still the man kept his position. He tried another barrel, with the same result. Just as he was getting ready to shoot again his wife, who had heard the reports of the pistol, came cane running and asked what was the matter. When he explained she looked out and laughed heartily. She had been having some soap made the day before, and the plucky incendiary, who had never moved, was the black kettle, which had not been put away. This it was, and nothing more.

A dispatch from Hartford, Ky, to the Courier-Journal:—Your readers have been kept well informed of the progress of the contested lottery-ticket case at Beaver Dam in this county. It will be remembered that the suit was brought by a club of fifty-three persons residing in that town and vicinity, against Rev.
Dr. Coleman, of the Baptist Church, Dr.
J. J. Mitchell and F. M. Bibb, for the ownership of one coupon in ticket number 2,101, which drew the second prize in the late Library drawing of $75,000.
The amount involved was therefore $7,- 500. The case was argued by able lawyers on both sides, Hon. H. D. McHenry appearing for the plaintiffs. The evidence was concluded some two weeks ago, and argument postponed until this week. After two days' argument the Judge rendered his decision last night in favor of the club of fifty-three. Thus ends one of the most interesting cases of the kind ever before the Kentucky courts.

THE REVENUE LICENSE.

It has been said by Thos. F. Hargis, and repeated by the partisan press that would sustain him in spite of any amount of proof of his guilt of the highest crimes, that when the editor of this paper first heard of the matter of the revenue license, he treated it with contempt, and said it did not matter when Mr. Hargis took out his revenue license. This is partially true, but is calculated, and was published in order to create a false impression. We were first told of this matter by M. C. Hutchins, and shortly afterwards by Thomas A. Davis, and from both we understood that Mr. Hargis had not applied for his revenue license until September 1st, 1874; and we did treat the information with contempt in both cases, because we knew that very frequently men did not apply for license until long after the time fixed by law for such application, and that when there was no attempt to evade or avoid the law no penalty had been enforced by the Government. But when we looked at the record itself, and found that not only had not Mr. Hargis applied for license until September 1st, 1866, but that he had been assessed and had actually paid only from that time to May 1st, 1867; and had not been assessed or paid for the time prior to September 1st during which he claimed to have practiced;—when we ascertained these facts we regarded it as a very serious matter. We lost no time in informing Mr. Hargis of the discovery, and in asking him for an explanation. He seemed much taken aback, said he did not know what to say about it; but stated that there had been great intimacy and friendship between Clarke and himself, that Clarke knew his straitened circumstances at the time and that his practice was but small, and he supposed had on that account exonerated him from paying the small amount due from the 1st of May to the 1st of September, if this was not true, he said, he did not know how else to explain it. Our sympathy had been keenly aroused for him: we had already seen Alley's certificate that Hargis had been sworn into the practice in the county court in April or May; and we accepted the supposition of Hargis as the true explanation of the apparent inconsistency between Alley's statement and the record of the internal revenue office. In our anxiety to shield one whom we believed and wanted to believe innocent—we were only too ready to give credence to any statement of his which had about it the coloring of plausibility. But so far from treating it lightly, we warned him that it was a matter which "would give him a great deal of trouble." In the presence of Jno. A. Campbell, in Carlisle, we spoke of it again so seriously as to draw from him that half-despairing declaration, that he had done all that any honorable man could do, and that he could do no more. Almost our last advice on parting with him, was to urge him to lose no time in obtaining from Clarke a statement of the facts, which we did not doubt would verify Hargis' own statement to us, which he promised to do, and for which we were waiting before answering the first letter of C. E. J. But when we met Clarke at Morehead, he emphatically and indignantly repudiated Mr. Hargis' supposition; declared that he would not have permitted personal intimacy or the poverty of the subject, to have interfered for one moment with the discharge of his official duty as an assistant assessor of the United States; and that his construction of his duty was, that Thomas F. Hargis would have been liable to tax from the very moment of his swearing in to the practice in any court, and ostensibly holding himself out for such practice, without regard to the amount of the practice, or whether he had any at all or not; that if he had known of Hargis having taken the oath in May, or of his having held himself out as practicing for practice at that time, he would have assessed him from the beginning of that month; and that he felt certain he would have known it, had it been the case. Mr. Clarke is a man of intelligence, of high and good character, and a minister of the gospel. However anxious we were to receive Mr. Hargis' supposition as fact, we could not permit it to weigh for one moment against such evidence as this, backed up as it was by the record and the requirements of the law itself, which we had not carefully examined at the time the information was first given to us by Hutchins and Davis. Then, when we came to interrogate Alley, we found that his certificate to Hargis was deceptive and absolutely worthless; that he had no recollection of having recorded the order swearing in Hargis in the county court; did not remember ever having seen it on record; did not remember that Hargis ever had taken the oath in the county court; and only thought so from such circumstances as that he had been a candidate for County Judge in 1866. Such stuff as this could not weigh against the evidence of the record and the statement of Clarke, and we were regretfully driven to the conclusion that that was true to which so many circumstances pointed: The oath in the circuit court on the 28th of August was the first oath he had ever taken as an attorney in any court of record, and that he was not liable to tax before that time. That was also the date of his first admission to the Bar, as he told Jno. P. Norvell, and that the practice he may have had before that time was only, as he himself says, "some in the Magistrate's courts," which he had, if he had it at all, without having taken the oath in any court, and without being legally and technically a "practicing Attorney."

HON. W. S. BOTTS.

The course of this gentleman as special Judge of the Rowan Circuit Court won for him the plaudits of the Bar and the people. Uniformly courteous to all members of the Bar, and especially kind to the younger and more inexperienced of the profession; patient and willing to listen to the arguments on both sides of every question that came up for discussion; anxious to expedite the business of the court, and yet not harshly or rudely exacting; his mind not jumping to conclusions, but working unerringly to the truth;—such a man and such a course could not have failed to have given satisfaction. Judge Botts possesses many of the qualities which are most admirable in a jurist; and among these we particularize unswerving integrity, an unbending love of truth and justice for their own sake, a courage to do that which his judgment points out as the right thing to be done, a temper even and equal and yet firm enough to repel indignity;—a man unswayed by party alities or prejudices, holding every other man innocent until he is proved to be guilty, charitable to human weakness, and chary of condemnatory speech;—not a man of brilliance, but a sound and sure lawyer, and ready to deal out exact justice to friend and foe alike. The people of Rowan county have rarely had a Judge upon the Bench whom they liked better; the Bar seldom one whom they approved as heartily. His course in the matter of the indictments against TABER was one that will commend itself to all;—firm, just, manly and dignified. It was a case almost anomalous in the history of the criminal jurisprudence of the State, and yet his mind grasped and comprehended the situation and his action was prompt, decided and right. In questions of doubt, he held that the citizen accused must have the benefit of the doubt, and when an accused person demanded a trial it should be accorded him unless there were overwhelming reasons why it should not. That the State had no right to keep a man under an indictment, not that known evidence might be had but merely in order that testimony then unheard of might turn up against him. That in asking for a continuance the State must show its hand. It is a pleasurable thought that this course was pursued towards one destitute of the means to employ counsel—a man poor and almost unfriended—while his prosecutors were men of influence and power. We say with the people. Well done, good and faithful servant.

The Republicans in this section of the country phrased themselves on favoring the election of good and competent men to office. In Fleming county they have an excellent opportunity to make good their words. H. BASIL DOBYNS is a candidate for re-election to the office of Circuit Court Clerk. Although inexperienced when he first entered upon the discharge of the duties of the office, he has since mastered them in all their details. He has made a most excellent officer. He understands his duties thoroughly and discharges them efficiently. He is polite and accommodating. He has been faithful and honest. His habits are good. He earns the salary by his labor, he needs it for the support of his family. His course has been most acceptable to the Bench, to the Bar and to litigants. Now, what more can the Republicans want in a ministerial officer? If he is turned out, the public will be the loser; for this thing of changing clerks every few years breeds confusion. To be consistent Republicans ought to vote for him, and we are not without hope that the more liberal members of the party will do so. It is true that DOBYNS was in the Confederate army, but the war is over, and that ought not to stand in their way. Withdraw your opposition, gentlemen of the Republican ranks, and let DOBYNS have a full swing and a clear field. And then you may with some propriety claim support for your own candidates, without regard to their politics, when you present men with superior qualifications for the offices they seek.

Having heard of the remarkable proceedings of the convenient Jacob Hargis in brow-beating a witness in the Grand Jury room of Rowan county, because his evidence did not help to make out the predetermined case against John R. Taber, we wrote to R. G. Scott for the facts. The following is his reply, viz:

FARMERS, ROWAN CO., KY.
June 18, 1874.

DEAR SIR: In answer to yours of June 18th, I will say that I was summoned before the grand jury on my last May term and after being sworn by the foreman, John Scott, (who is a nephew of mine and also a Radical friend to Judge Thomas F. Hargis) he showed me the two forged orders on page 166, I believe, and asked me if I knew whose handwriting those orders were, and I stated that I did not know, but that the words, (in the order appointing Henderson over) "ordered and appointed," looked more like Col. John Hargis' writing than any person's that I knew of. Jacob Hargis, who was on the grand jury, jumped up, came to where I was standing, and said "by God, or something to that effect, that my father should not be accused of that forged order before the grand jury, and seemed very much excited. I then showed the jury orders that had been made by Col. Hargis when he acted as clerk, and that the words, "ordered and appointed," looked to me like the same as on the forged orders. Jake remarked that they did not resemble a damn bit, and that he could prove it by Wat. Andrews, and that he would have Mr. Andrews brought up and prove that it was not his father's handwriting. But I think he failed to do it. I thought he was going to jump me, whether or no, and as he is a bully in the mountains, and as I always feared bullies, I made my exit from the Grand Jury room at the first opportunity.

Respectfully,
R. G. SCOTT.

A PROPER DECISION, BUT A CLOSE VOTE.—That of the Judiciary Committee of the House to impeach Judge Durell and Judge Busted. The vote was six for the proposition and five against. Let us hope the House, notwithstanding the closeness of this vote of the Judiciary Committee on party considerations, will accede to the recommendation and bring these Judges before the bar of public opinion and the laws. The South needs a ridance of such judicial vampires and flounders, and a searching and thorough investigation will do much to accomplish that.

A very significant statement concerning the advance of Russian power in Central Asia comes from the Berlin correspondent of the London Times. It is well known that England has lately succeeded in sending an embassy to the capital of the independent State of Kashgar, which lies north of Tibet, and was formerly a province of China, and that the British envoy, Mr. Forsyth, has negotiated a favorable treaty of commerce with the sovereign or Amier of that little-known country. Now it is announced that China is about to attempt the conquest of this territory with troops armed with European rifles, and that Russia accordingly "is preparing to concert measures of defense with the Amier of Kashgar." This means that Russia does not like the English influence at the Amier's court, and sees in the prospective war a fine opportunity to supplant it by an alliance which would lead ultimately to absolute sway.

LOUISVILLE, June 17.—Duchess of Ononda, a 2-year old heifer, purchased by W. J. Alexander at the New York Mills sale last fall for $19,000, died on the Alexander farm, Woodford county, of pneumonia.

The Wyoming Soda Lake.

Yesterday in company with Mr. Charles Poyntz, N. K. Boswell, and M. C. Brown, we visited the soda lake that lies between Laramie and Sheep Mountain, and notwithstanding the reports that were in circulation concerning the extent of the deposit, its immensity was surprising to the analyst and ye editor. The area of one lake was over sixty acres. The material which covers it resembles ice in appearance and solidity. There having been a fall of rain the night previous, an inch or more of water lay upon the incrustated lake, and this was so highly impregnated with soda as to be damaging to leather and make a white spot wherever a drop of it touched the clothing. Holes have been dug four feet into this soda without reaching bottom, and it would certainly be safe to estimate its average depth at three feet. As it extends over an area of one hundred acres, the amount of sulphate soda may be easily computed. But, as this is derived from a constantly flowing spring, it is fair to presume that the quantity is simply inexhaustible.

Mr. Poyntz thought that a furnace could be erected on the premises at a moderate expenditure, which would convert the crude sulphate of soda into a merchantable carbonate at $10 per ton, and this could be delivered in Chicago at $15, which would leave a handsome margin of $20 on each ton for a staple article of commerce, the demand for which is so great that its value would not be affected by this discovery.

About all our soda comes from England, where it is manufactured from salt, being first converted into a sulphate of soda by the use of sulphuric acid. After all the processes are completed it is then shipped to America, where a duty has to be paid, and a profit to the importer, and it is sold in New York at $15 per ton.

A dispatch from St. Louis, June 19th, says: Since the mutiny in the penitentiary at Jefferson City, a few days ago, there has been a very turbulent spirit manifested by the convicts, and much unruly and insubordinate conduct. For two days all work in the shops had to be suspended and prisoners kept in cells. Yesterday several of the ring-leaders were lashed severely on the bare back, and this will be continued from day to day until all those most active in the mutiny are punished. One of those whipped yesterday confessed that a plot to escape had been planned, and an attempt was to have been made to carry it out yesterday, but the action of the authorities in confining the prisoners in cells prevented it. It is believed that the mutinous spirit has been quelled, and that no more trouble will occur.

Manhood: How Lost How Restored!
 Just published, a new edition of DR. CULLEN'S celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness, involuntary seminal losses, impotency, mental and physical inequity, impediments to marriage, etc.; also, consumption, epilepsy and fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance, pines, &c.
 Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cents.
 The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from a thirty years successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.
 This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.
 Sent under seal, to any address, in a plain sealed envelope, on receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps. Also, DR. SULLIVAN'S Remedy for Piles. Send for circular.

Wm. P. Combs is now the Democratic candidate for County Attorney, Mr. J. L. Whitaker having withdrawn on account of his ineligibility.

The entire artillery corps of Maysville was in eager search for Tom Collins on Sunday. Major Mammen was the only person who found him, but Tom apologized so abjectly and meekly that the kind Major could not find the heart to kill the scamp as he deserved.

George T. Halbert is stumping Lewis for the candidates of the Flomingsburg Convention, and is careful to be particularly abusive of Jno. R. Taber. The latter receives more left handed compliments than nearly any individual we know.

Quite a number of citizens were on a hunt, on Saturday and Sunday, for that universal slanderer, Thomas Collins. Had the wretch been caught he would have been pounded to a jelly, cut into mince meat and shot all to pieces. He escaped within an inch of his life.

We are glad to learn that Thomas Jackson is fast recovering from his recent injuries, and will soon be able to appear again upon the street. Mr. Jackson is a useful citizen, and hosts of friends will rejoice that we are not to lose him from the active community.

The examinations in the public schools last week were very creditable to both teachers and pupils. We have heard that of the classes under charge of Henry C. Smith spoken of in terms of high commendation. Captain S. C. Pearce was so delighted with the perfect manner in which the young people recited, that he treated the whole school to ices and cakes.

Oversight caused us to neglect to give Mr. Geo. R. Gill the credit for the report of the speech of Thomas F. Hargis, on the 13th inst. Without being a professional reporter Mr. Gill has a rare talent for the work and rarely fails to give an accurate report of any speech he attempts. He has no superior among amateurs in this particular.

China Palace.—R. Albert still keeps up the reputation of his establishment on Second street. It is the place for ladies to go for everything in his line. The little garden in the rear of the store is as pleasant as any one need wish to enter. Exquisite taste is displayed in the selection of the plants, and in every arrangement. Go and look at it even if you buy nothing.

Harvesting has fairly commenced in this county, and from all parts the report is encouraging. The barley is good and the wheat excellent. Of the latter grain the quantity is above the average, and the quality is very superior indeed. Now let the farmers take our advice: Sell your wheat when it is ready for market, and pay your notes in bank and store bills. It is the best policy to pursue one year with another.

The tobacco crop in Southern Kentucky will be almost a total failure. In this part of the State, with the most favorable season from this time forth, there cannot be grown more than half a crop. The loss to farmers will be very heavy. But it will be salvation to dealers in the leaf and manufactured article who have large stocks on hand. It is estimated that there is more tobacco in Europe than there ever was before, and that the stocks now in the hands of dealers are sufficient to run the world for eighteen months to come.

Garrett S. Wall is from a family long settled in Mason, of high repute, but no member of which, if we are correctly informed, has ever before solicited office from the people. He is a young gentleman of good private character, attentive to his business, and if elected will do his utmost to make for the county a faithful and acceptable officer. Mr. Wall has uow no opposition, and we hope will have none. It will be utterly futile to oppose, and for one we want the canvass to pass off with as little excitement as possible. Let him have the full vote of his party, with as many Republicans as may be thrown in.

Very Remarkable.—A gentleman in the neighborhood of Johnson's Station, M. & L. railroad, has a horse on his farm that can vomit and relieve himself of any excess of food in his stomach, and also relieves himself of colic.

Mr. Thomas H. Soward has just returned from a tour through Lewis county, when he has been very successfully engaged in opening Gauges. Mr. Soward has also done some good work in the temperance cause.

The case of Col. Terrell, for killing Harvey Myers was before the Kenton Criminal Court on Friday. The defense moved for a continuance, which the prosecution resisted. The Judge took the matter under advisement.

An Oratorio Concert will be given by the pupils of the Female Institute, Tuesday, June 23d, at 8 o'clock, p. m. No complimentary tickets will be sent. Admission 25 cents.

Miss J. R. PARKE, Principal.

Foundry.—There is no need for our farmers to send away their agricultural machinery for repairs. Wm. Hood, of the Maysville foundry, is prepared to do all that kind of work in the best style. We saw some work of his on the inside of a steam engine for threshing purposes, and it was of the most expert workmanship. Give home machinists a fair trial before sending your work to a distance and paying unnecessary costs of transportation.

John R. Taber published in the Republican, of Saturday, a communication plentifully interlarded with epithets characterizing Thos. F. Hargis. But he isn't a patching to the candidate for Circuit Judge in that style of composition and we advise him to abandon it. Having already published the "Open letter," we conclude that it is quite enough to satisfy the appetites of our readers for that class of literature during one season and we very cheerfully omit Mr. Taber's effusion.

Some of our fellow citizens of Irish birth and descent, met at the Court House on Saturday, and declared their determination to support W. N. Howe, for Jailor; John R. Masterson, for sheriff; and James Smithers, for Assessor—all of them Independent candidates. We regret that we could not attend the meeting. We learn that the speech of young Mr. O'Brien, of Bourbon, was well delivered and produced an impression very favorable to his talents.

Wheat and Gold.—Emerson says that people can always find gold if they will only dig for it. It seems that many wise pioneers who sought gold in California have found wheat. An estimate of the harvest for this year alone is that after deducting the amount of wheat used for home consumption, enough will remain for exportation to double the amount exported last year by Russia, much larger indeed than that exported by the rest of the United States. It would be an odd and at the same time a gratifying circumstance if the land of gold should become the land of wheat, and richer from its wheat than it could ever have been from its gold.

The following has been handed us for publication, viz:

BOLIVAR, MISS., June 16, '74.

Mrs. G. W. Blatterman:
 DEAR MADAME: I have the honor and pleasure to acknowledge the timely receipt of your letter of the 30th of May, and by the steamer Thos. Sherlock, the two boxes of clothing sent by your "Relief Association." Please accept my thanks for the clothing as well as the thanks of the poor people who received the goods. It is a timely gift and one that is duly appreciated. The spirit that prompted your effort in our behalf is that heaven-born charity so clearly taught by Christ and his true followers.

Very respectfully,
 J. E. EDMONDS,
 Chm Relief Association.

Our Neighbors.

MINERVA.

Business engagements have prevented your correspondent from discharging his duty recently.

Our little village is exceedingly quiet, so far as within the town limits are concerned—but we can hear the music of machines all around, indicating that harvest is at hand. Wheat is looking splendid, corn and tobacco quite poorly. Potato-bugs are taking the day—being as fond of the potato-vine as preachers are of chickens.

Some improvements are going on in the town, such as fencing, etc.

Methodist Quarterly meeting here last Saturday and Sunday. Eld. Evans, P. E., preached several sermons on infant baptism. The way matters now stand, he will have a chance to make things more satisfactorily, at least to one party.

Præching also at the Baptist Church, with two additions. Meeting also on fourth Sunday in this month. Subject: Baptist Church History.

On the night of the 12th instant, the Methodist sisters gave an ice-cream and strawberry supper, for the benefit of their church. Though the wrier was not there we understand it was a success.

There will be a grand Masonic celebration at the Germantown fairsground, on the 24th instaut. A huge time is anticipated. More anon.

CONSTANTINE.

A German correspondent says: Count von Moltke went recently to his estate, Kreisau, in Silesia. In speaking of his sojourn there he expressed his intention of visiting the village school. Though no day was mentioned the honor was daily made known in the village. The result was great joy, but still greater preparations. The school was dismissed and the day devoted to scrubbing and cleaning. With his usual unperturbable way Count von Moltke reached Landau by rail and, stepping out of the car, hired a plain one-horse wagon to drive him out to the village. An hour later he reached Beerburg, walked to the school-house, but found no one but a frau, who, scrubbing away, told him the school was dismissed for the day because in the morning they expected grand visitors. Now what astonished he returned to the wagon and drove back to Landau. As the driver stopped before the hotel he was surprised to see an immense flag waving from the piazza, and the market place crowded with people, who greeted with loud cheers his plain looking passenger as he alighted. For the first time he knew he had been driving the great General von Moltke.

A Quaker Printer's Dream.

Never sendest thou an article for publication without giving the editor thy name, for thy name oftentimes secures publication to worthless articles.

Thou shouldst not rap at the door of a printing office, for he that answereth the rap sneereth in his sleeve and loseth time.

Neither do thou loaf about, ask questions or knock down type, for the boys will love thee like they do shade trees—when thou leavest.

You shouldst never read the copy on the printer's case, or the sharp and hooded container thereof, or he may knock thee down.

Never inquire thou of the editor for the news, for behold it is his business at the appointed time to give it to thee without asking.

It is not right that thou shouldst ask him who is the author of an article, for his duty requirith him to keep such things to himself.

When thou dost enter into this office, take heed unto thyself that thou dost not look at what may be lying open and concernest thee not, for that is not meet, in the sight of good breeding.

Neither examine thou the proof-sheet, for it is not ready to meet thine eye, that thou mayest understand.

Prefer thine own town paper to any other, and subscribe for it immediately.

Pay for it in advance, and it shall be well with thee thine.

The Springfield Republican says: "In Great Britain the transactions of the London Stock Exchange are 25 per cent, less than last year, and the bank clearing-house indicates a much smaller increase of clearances than usual. In France the business accounts of the great bank of the country shows a considerable diminution in the discount of commercial bills and in loans, a fact harmonizing with and explaining in some measure the increase of specie in the vaults of the bank. The Bank of Prussia shows a similar state of affairs, though the change is not so marked. It is universally a year for paying debts and investigating as little as possible in business."

The curious library of the late M. Lucien de Rosney, father of the eminent Japanese scholar, was lately sold by auction in Paris. It was rich in fine, and above all, eccentric bindings, such as in skins of cat, garnet colored, and blue; crocodile, uole, seal, fur of the Canadian black wolf, royal tiger, otter, white bear, sole, and rattlesnake. The legendary human skin binding is alone wanting in the list.

Liberty of speech is not one of the blessings now enjoyed in Germany. A sentence of imprisonment for a year and a half has been passed upon a Deputy. Herr Most, for certain speeches delivered by him at some meeting of working men. The most serious charge made against him was that he had denounced a standing army. This was regarded by the Minister of War, Von Kameke, as an insult to the members of the army, and the prosecution was set on foot at his request.

The population of Great Britain and Ireland at this time is stated in the Register General's returns to be 32,112,000, or 600,000 more than double the population enumerated at the first census in 1801. The population of Ireland in 1871 is only 84,000 more than in 1801. The population of Scotland in 1871 is 2,120,000 more than double the population of 1801. The population of England and Wales in 1874 is above 5,500,000 more than double the population in 1801.

The Indianapolis Sentinel says: "The yield of wheat in Southern Indiana is represented as wonderful. Dr. A. C. Stevenson, of Putnam county, lately made a visit to different portions of Gibson county, and he thinks very many fields will give an average of twenty-five bushels to the acre, and some will go as high as thirty. Thus far the season has also been generally favorable for corn, of which a good stand is upon the ground, promising an immense yield from the unusual breadth planted in the spring. With these prospects before the farmer it is not an easy thing for him to keep countenance and lower his chin much below the proper point. Good crops are an assured fact and good crops mean good times in spite of adverse conditions in the business world."

"I'd hate to be in your shoes," said a woman of the East Side, yesterday, as she was quarreling with a neighbor. "You couldn't get in them," sarcastically remarked the neighbor.—[Terr Home Express.]

GO WEST THROUGH ST. LOUIS.—During the Summer Season, the MISSOURI PACIFIC and KANSAS PACIFIC THROUGH LINE, via St. Louis and Kansas City, will sell Excursion Tickets from St. Louis to Denver and Return, good ninety days from date of sale, at extremely low rates thus affording every one an excellent opportunity to visit the famous resorts of Colorado, among the beautiful Parks of the Rocky Mountains.

To all who are seeking new homes in or are about to take a trip to Missouri, Colorado, New Mexico, Nebraska, Oregon or California, we recommend a cheap, safe, quick and direct route by way of St. Louis, over the Missouri Pacific Through Line. It is equipped with fine Day Coaches, Buck's Reclining Chair Cars, Pullman's Palace Sleepers, the famous Miller Safety Platform and the celebrated Westinghouse Air Brake and runs its trains from St. Louis to principal points in the West without change. The Texas connection of this Road is now completed and passengers are offered a first-class all-rail route from St. Louis to Texas, either over the Missouri, Kansas & Texas R. R., via Vinita.

For full information in regard to Colorado Excursions, or trips to any point in the Great West, address or call upon either of the following named Agents of the Line; J. F. Thompson, 157 Exchange St., Buffalo, N. Y.; S. H. Thompson, Union Depot, Columbus, Ohio; or E. A. Ford Gen'l Passenger Agent, 25 South Fourth Street, St. Louis Mo. Questions will be cheerfully and promptly answered.

THE RUSH TO KANSAS AND COLORADO.—The indications are that the rush to Kansas and Colorado will be greater than ever in 1874. The shortest way to reach the far West is through St. Louis, the great Mississippi-Valley City, of over 450,000 inhabitants and thence west over the St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern Short Line, which reaches all the great land grants in the West, and runs six fast Express trains, two more than any other road, between the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers. This road, in the last two years, has expended over two million dollars, besides earnings, in extraordinary improvements of roadway, in relaying its line with best quality of new steel and iron rails, on broad new ties, and in passenger equipments, having substitute for ordinary cars new reclining chair coaches, with every appliance for comfort and safety, being elegantly carpeted and fitted with dressing rooms, with toilet conveniences for ladies, gentlemen and families traveling with children, free of any extra charge. Any ticket agent selling through tickets to the West will furnish tickets by this excellent route through St. Louis, over the St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern Short Line, the best and shortest to Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, California and the great West, it being the only line running through cars between St. Louis and Omaha. For map, circulars and time tables address either J. B. McCarthy, Cincinnati, O., or P. B. Frost, St. Louis, Mo., either of whom will furnish any information desired.

News.

A large frog, whose age is placed in round numbers at one thousand years, was recently found ten feet below the surface at Sodas, New York. He jumped away quite lively as soon as he could remember how he used to do it.

The Sharpshooter (Penn.) Advertiser quotes the following statement from another paper: "We have before us a clipping from a copy of Liberty Hall, published in this city in 1816, where a most marvelous phenomenon is related—the name of the physician being given—of a Mrs. John Kelly, of Mercer County, Penn., who had just given birth to five children, that being the second effort of the kind within twelve months, or ten children born within the year." And the Advertiser adds this: "Mrs. Kelly, referred to above, resided in Lackawanna township. Mrs. Wallace, now residing in this place, remembers the circumstances of the birth of ten children very well, having been present on both occasions. Dr. Magoffin, of Mercer, was the physician. Mrs. Kelly died about a year after this event, but in the meantime had twins, having given birth to twelve children within twenty months. Mr. Kelly is still living, and now resides in Sharon.

A Poor Victim of Liquor who was sent to Blackwell's Island for six months on the 22d of last month was on June 17th, taken before the Police Justice who had sentenced her on a charge of intoxication. When asked how she obtained her liberty she stated that she and others had been discharged from the Workhouse by the Commissioners of Charities and Correction on the pretence that the place was overcrowded. This is how the "population" under the control of the Commissioners is kept up. The names of the prisoners thus illegally discharged remain on the books and are enumerated over and over in the census in order to make the population appear large and to excuse the enormous expenditure for supplies.

A dispatch from Chicago June, 19th, says: "Some days since a young girl named Rosetta Jackson, died suddenly at the house of Mrs. Kate Holland, in this city, and the suspicion of the police being aroused as to the cause of her death, an investigation was instituted, and the body of the girl, which had been shipped to Mauston, Wisconsin, for internment brought back. A post-mortem examination showed that she had died from the effects of an abortion, and the Coroner's inquest, concluded this evening, resulted in the arrest and commitment without bail, to await the action of the Grand Jury in the Criminal Court, of one Dr. Charles Parll, who attended the girl, Wm. H. Flagg, her brother-in-law and supposed seducer, and Mrs. Holland, at whose house she died; Earl as the murderer, and the other two as accessories before the fact.

Yesterday the eldest son and heir of Lord Petre renounced the brilliant position to which he was born, and the wealth and honors of his birthright, and was ordained a Jesuit priest in the church of that Order in Farm street. He is in his twenty seventh year. This makes the second heir to a British peerage who is now a Jesuit priest, the other one being the brother and heir of Lord Arundell of Wardour. Lord Petre has estates which yield a revenue of £25,000 a year. What was the motive which inspired a young nobleman thus to forewear all the joys of this world and to become an humble priest, subject in all things to the will of a Superior, and liable to be sent at a moment's notice on some mission to the ends of the earth?

GENTLEMEN: My only object in giving you this testimonial is to spread valuable information. Having been badly afflicted with Salt Rheum, and the whole surface of my skin being covered with pimples and eruptions, and of which caused me great pain and annoyance, and knowing it to be a blood disease, I took many of the advertised blood purifiers, among which was any quantity of Sarsaparilla, without obtaining any benefit, until I commenced taking the VEGETINE and before I had completed the first bottle I saw that I had got the right medicine. Consequently I followed on with it until I had taken seven bottles, when I was pronounced a well man, and my skin is smooth and entirely free from pimples and eruptions. I have never enjoyed so good health before, and attributed all to the use of VEGETINE. To benefit those afflicted with Rheumatism, I will make mention also of the VEGETINE's wonderful power of curing me of this acute complaint, of which I have suffered so intensely. C. H. TICKER, Pas. EVERY ONE SPEAKS FAVORABLY. East Malabar, May 4, 1874. MR. STEVENS: Dear Sir: I have been troubled with Canker from childhood, causing my mouth to be so sore at times that I was unable to eat. I have taken many preparations, but with no effect until I used your VEGETINE. After taking a few doses, I found it relieved the faintness at the stomach that always accompanied Canker humor, and by the time I had taken the third bottle my mouth was entirely cured. Have not been troubled with it since that time, which is eight months ago. I have recommended it to several of my acquaintances, and every one speaks favorably of its good effect. Yours truly, P. S. SHERMAN.

Report from a Practical Chemist and Apothecary. Boston, May 1, 1874. DEAR SIR: This is to certify that I have sold at retail, sixty-three doz. (756 bottles) of your VEGETINE since April 12, 1870, and can truly say that it has given the best satisfaction of any remedy for the complaints for which it is recommended, that I ever sold. Scarcely a day passes without some of my customers testifying to its merits on themselves or their friends. An personally cognizant of several cases of scrofulous tumors being cured by VEGETINE alone in this vicinity. Very respectfully yours, A. GILMAN, To R. H. STEVENS, Esq. 465 Broadway.

FURTHER PROOF. SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 4, 1874. MR. R. H. STEVENS: Dear Sir: My daughter has been out of health for about two years. About two years ago she had a tumor come on her side, which was very painful. I saw VEGETINE advertised in the Farmer, and sent to Bangor and got two bottles. She is now taking the second bottle; her health is much improved, and the tumor is going away as fast as it came. Every one in this vicinity knows what VEGETINE has done for my daughter, and I take every opportunity to recommend it to those who are not aware of its great value. Very respectf. Mrs. SUSAN C. PUBLICATIONS.

PROSPECTS FOR 1874—SEVENTH YEAR

THE ALDINE.

An illustrated monthly journal, universally admitted to be the handsomest periodical in the world. A representative and champion of American tastes.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores.

The ALDINE, while issued with the regularity, has none of the temporary or the interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light, graceful literature, and a collection of the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number affords fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE, will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, as from red with flags of a similar class, THE ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without competition in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume cannot duplicate the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT, 1874

The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world-wide reputation, and in the art centres of Europe it is admitted that its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates," is rapidly yielding to a more educated and discriminating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality with greater facility of production. The woodcuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better rendering of the artists' original.

To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the cost to the people of any other decent representation of the productions of great painters.

In addition to designs by the members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, THE ALDINE will reproduce in the best foreign masters, selected with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus the subscriber to THE ALDINE will, at a trifling cost, enjoy in his own home the pleasures and refining influences of true art.

The quarterly titled plates for 1874 will be by Thomas Moran and J. D. Woodard.

PREMIUM FOR 1874.

The illustrations of THE ALDINE for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thomas Moran, whose great reputation as a painter was purchased by the public for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent the "East" and the "West." One is a view in the White Mountains, New Hampshire; the other
